ANDERSON, S. C.

Local News.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2, 1901.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Strict Good Middling—7½.
Good Middling—7½.
Middling—7½.

Our farmers are still busy mowing hay and other forage crops.

The season for shooting birds does not begin until November 1st.

J. W. Morris, of Hartwell, Ga., spent a day or two in Anderson last week.

The cotton gins all over the County are now buzzing from morning till night.

J. W. Gantt, of Pendleton, has gone to Bishopville, S. C., to buy cotton this season.

It now looks as if Western meat would sell next spring at 9 to 10 cents in the market.

Superintendent Nicholson has an important notice in another column to school trustees.

Miss Maggie Tribble, of Elberton, Ga., is in the city visiting the family of Auditor Boleman.

Next Monday is Salesday. Considerable real estate will be offered for sale at public outcry.

Our young friend, Paul Barr, left yesterday for Charleston to resume his studies in the College of Pharmacy.

T. Paul Dickson, of this County, returned to Columbia a few days ago to resume his studies in the South Carolina.

Chiquola Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will meet to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. All the members are urged to attend.

Persons indebted to J. S. Fowler should read his advertisement in another column and govern themselves accordingly.

Henry Earle, who is in the employ of the Southern Express Company at Havana, Cuba, is visiting relatives in the County.

Miss Eva Murray left last Saturday for Greenville, where she has accepted a position as teacher in the Greenville Female College.

Eggs, chickens and other country produce meet with ready sale in the city. The two first named are scarce and in great demand.

We have had the pleasure of sampling some of Wilhite's best cigars. If you want to enjoy a good smoke go and try them.

The time is here when all citizens must pull together for the extension of business and the development of new enterprises in Anderson.

Rev. Sidi B. Harper, who is on his way to Helena, Montana, is spending a few days in the County visiting his parents and other relatives.

S. R. Tims, of the Piercetown section, whose dam was recently washed away, has rebuilt it and is now ready to accommodate his old customers.

County Treasurer Payne is getting ready to receive your State and County taxes, as will be seen by reading his advertisement in another column.

As will be seen by reading their new advertisement this week Julius H. Weil & Co. are offering their stock of clothing for men and boys at cost.

Misses Carrie Ligon, Annie Sadler, Rema Farmer, Annie Boleman, Rabi Hammond and Mary Johnson have gone to Greenville to enter Chiquola College.

Old reliable weather prophets in the county predict a hard winter. They say the snow on corn is very heavy and the moss on the north side of trees very thick.

Rev. Wm. Brown, the pastor, assisted by Rev. O. J. Copeland, is conducting a series of meetings in the West End Baptist Church. Everybody is invited to attend the services.

L. S. Mattison, of this city, sent some of his fine chickens to the Fairview Stock Show, in Greenville County, last Friday, and was awarded the two first prizes on Black Leghorns and Wyandottes.

Miss Toccia Burriss, who has been visiting her uncle, Rev. R. H. Burriss, at Newsum, Va., has returned home accompanied by her aunt, who will spend a few weeks in this County with relatives.

Mr. D. W. Thomas, of Spartanburg, an experienced pharmacist and a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, is now a citizen of Anderson, having accepted a position with Wilhite & Wilhite.

Miss Laura Bowman left Saturday for Autun, S. C., having accepted a position there to teach in a private family. Miss Bowman is a very popular young lady and will be missed in Newberry.—Newberry Herald and News.

The money season is at hand and people are making arrangements to settle up past debts. Don't forget your paper in making other payments; we have waited patiently and tried to serve all subscribers faithfully.

If you contemplate purchasing a piano, organ or sewing machine, the advertisement of M. L. Willis will interest you. He has a big supply of each, and will take pleasure in showing them to you and quoting prices.

Attention is directed to the new advertisement of Hall Bros., whose fall stock of clothing, gents' furnishings and shoes are now ready for inspection. Give them a call, see their goods and get their prices and you will be pleased.

The ladies who have charge of the woman's exhibit from Anderson at the Charleston exposition will serve oysters and lunch to-day from 12 to 3 o'clock in the store room formerly occupied by D. P. Sloan. Go and patronize them.

The C. F. Jones Co. announce in their new advertisement this week that they have in store the largest stock of clothing and men's wear they have ever handled, and will make it to your interest to call and see them. Read their advertisement.

The Greenville Mountaineer says: "Solicitor Julius E. Rogers has so far improved that he sits up a little every day, and is now on the road to recovery. He will remain in the sanitarium a few weeks longer yet, as he is very weak and debilitated."

Annie Rebecca, the sweet little one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stevenson, died of inflammation of the bowels on Wednesday, 25th ult., and was laid to rest the day following at Sandy Springs Church, Rev. Stackhouse conducting the funeral services.

Lesser & Co. are now displaying their new stock of fall and winter goods. Every department is full, and the prices quoted in their new advertisement will show you how cheap they are offering their goods. Read their advertisement carefully and give them a call.

The Pickens Sentinel, in speaking of Rev. O. J. Copeland, this city, who has been conducting a series of meetings in that town, says: "He is a wonderful preacher, a good speaker, and apart from his personal magnetism, carries conviction to the soul by his logic and faith in Christ."

Capt. Henry Williams, accompanied by his wife, of Greensboro, N. C., came to Anderson last Friday to spend a few days in and near the city. Capt. Williams is trainmaster of the North Carolina and Virginia divisions of the Southern Railway, and is one of the most popular and efficient employees of the Southern.

Cadets David Taylor and Clarence Earle, of this city, met with painful accidents at Clemson College a few days ago while playing football. The former's nose was mashed and the bone broken, and the latter broke his leg. Both are doing as well as possible. We join their friends in wishing them a speedy recovery.

Our young friend, Forrest Fant, who has been employed in the printing offices of this city for a number of years, has accepted a position in one of the offices of that city. He is an industrious, worthy young man, and we join his friends in wishing him much success in his new home.

John A. Devlin, one of Due West's most popular and progressive citizens, died at his home in that town on the 24th ult., aged 60 years. He had been in feeble health for more than a year and his death was not unexpected by his family. The deceased has many old friends in the southern portion of Anderson County who will regret to hear of his death.

The Liberty correspondent of the Pickens Journal says: "There is talk of a telephone line from here to Anderson by way of Wilson & Martin and Passmore's Bridge, in Anderson, and to Martin Roller Mills, near Lobaton Church, where a line is already established from Anderson. This would be a great convenience to a large section of country and we hope to see it in operation."

Wholesale and retail buyers of general merchandise should not fail to see Osborne & Pearson's stock and get their prices. Judging from the immensity of their stock, we would say that they must be in position to meet all legitimate competition as they claim. Their wholesale dry goods department is a step forward in the advancement of our progressive city, which should receive encouragement. Read their advertisement.

The members of Grace Episcopal Church have decided on the erection of a new house of worship and are now engaged in raising the necessary funds for that purpose. It is proposed to erect a building that will cost about $8,000, and the congregation will be able to raise something more than half of that amount. With the approval of Bishop Capers, a circular letter has been issued asking for the aid of Episcopalians throughout the State.

A meeting of the Sunday School teachers of the several Churches in the city met last Sunday afternoon in St. John's Methodist Church and organized a City Sunday School Union by the election of the following officers: President, W. R. Osborn; Vice-President, J. B. Marshall; H. S. Shumate, J. L. Linley and Rev. B. M. Anderson; Secretary, Rufus Faut. The object of the Association is to put new life in the Sunday School work, and meetings will be held once a month.

The Columbia State of yesterday says: "Yesterday the governor reduced to $100 the fine of $300 imposed upon Jno. H. Marchbanks, convicted in November, 1900, of the violation of the dispensary law in Anderson county. The alternative was imprisonment for four months. An appeal was taken in the case to the State supreme court, and that tribunal sustained the court below. Solicitor Ansel and Assistant Attorney General Gunter, who represented the State before the supreme court, joined in a recommendation for the commutation."

Col. James B. Hunnicutt, editor of the Southern Cultivator, at the solicitation of a number of friends in this County, has accepted an invitation to visit Anderson on Saturday, 12th inst., and deliver an address in the Court House on that day at 11 o'clock a. m. He will probably be accompanied by Mr. Long, superintendent of the dairy department of the Government Experiment Station, who will also deliver an address. Both of these gentlemen are progressive farmers, and every farmer who can possibly do so should visit the city that day and hear their addresses.

Mrs. J. Landrum Rhodes died at her home near Stirling postoffice on Sunday night, after an illness of three weeks. Her condition was thought not to be serious until last week, when she suddenly became worse, and the grim destroyer claimed his victim shortly after midnight on Sunday. Mrs. Rhodes was Miss Emma Poole, of Anderson, and was thirty-five years of age. She was a consistent member of the Bethel Baptist Church, where her funeral and burial took place yesterday. Rev. W. R. McMillan conducting the exercises. Five children, a loving husband and many relatives and friends are left to mourn her loss.—Greenville Mountaineer, Sept. 25.

Our Denver correspondent chronicles the death of a Mrs. Elizabeth Stribling, which occurred at her home in Greenville last Sunday afternoon of heart failure. While she had been an invalid for several years, she was confined to her bed but two days. She was about 75 years of age, was born and reared and spent nearly all her life in Anderson County, where she has a wide circle of friends and relatives who will ever cherish her memory. She was the daughter of the late Samuel A. Stribling, both of whom preceded her to the grave many years ago. A faithful Christian has gone to her reward. Her son, Joe E. Stribling, of Greenville, and one daughter, Mrs. Carrie E. Brown, of Anderson, survive her, and in their sore bereavement they have the sympathies of all their friends.

The Columbia State of last Sunday says: "The Secretary of State yesterday granted the charter of the new Blue Ridge Railway Company. The road at present runs from Anderson to Walhalla, a distance of 34 miles. The charter granted yesterday gives the right to build on from Walhalla to the Georgia line, a distance of 17 miles, giving a mileage of 51 miles in South Carolina. This new company is capitalized at $100,000. The directors are Fairfax Harrison, of Washington, D. C.; B. L. Abney, of Columbia, H. C. Beattie, of Greenville, H. W. Miller, of Raleigh, and E. M. Thomson, of Columbia. The officers are H. C. Beattie, of Greenville, president, and H. W. Miller secretary and treasurer. The material improvement of this road will begin at once. It is understood that the extension of the road to Rabun Gap, Ga., will be undertaken at an early date."

E. T. Gambrell Jr., eldest son of E. T. Gambrell, sr., died at his home on West Market street at an early hour last Monday morning. He had been confined to his bed for several months with that ever fatal disease, consumption, and his death had been expected by his loved ones at any hour for the past few weeks. Mr. Gambrell learned the trade of a printer in this city, and about three years ago went to Columbia to accept a position in The State office, which he filled acceptably until his bad health forced him to give it up and return to his home. He was a most worthy, upright young man, about 30 years of age, and was highly esteemed by all his friends. He was a consistent member of the First Baptist Church, where the funeral services were held yesterday morning and the remains interred in Silver Brook cemetery. The grief stricken family have many sympathizers in their bereavement, and they also have the consolation of knowing that their loved one is at rest with the blessed Saviour, whom he loved and served.

Mrs. Mildred E. Nowell was found dead in her bed last Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Maret, on West Market street, where she boarded, and the announcement of her death was a great shock to her many friends throughout the city. She had been in delicate health for several years, and for some time was under medical treatment for heart disease, which caused her death. Mrs. Nowell's maiden name was Thompson, and she was a native of Spartanburg County. She was about 52 years of age. In her young womanhood she graduated from Limestone College, and devoted the most of her life to teaching. In 1893 she moved to Anderson from Piedmont, and when the city graded schools were organized here she was selected as one of the teachers, which position she held until the day of her death. Notwithstanding her delicate health she was at her post of duty every day, and taught her classes on Friday. She was a cultured, accomplished lady, and was greatly beloved by her pupils. She had long been a devoted member of the Episcopal Church, and exemplified her Christian character in her daily walk. Her husband preceded her to the grave about twelve years ago, leaving two sons, Herbert and Roland, who survive her. The former is now preparing himself for the duties of an electrician at Schenectady, N. Y., and the latter is a student of the College of Charleston. One sister—Mrs. Scaif, of Union, S. C.—is left to cherish her memory. On Sunday at noon the funeral services were conducted in Grace Episcopal Church by the rector, Rev. B. M. Anderson, and the remains were interred in Silver Brook cemetery.

Our usually mild, amiable and affable friend, Col. L. E. Campbell, was in the city last week just spoiling for a fight. We regret to say that THE INTELLIGENCER was the innocent cause of the Colonel's displeasure. In mailing our papers we inadvertently failed to mail one to the Colonel, who has long been a constant subscriber to our paper. It so happened that in this special paper Messrs. Dean & Ratliff had a new advertisement, which he didn't see till a week later. This omission, he says, might have resulted disastrously to him, in which case he would have had a few pecuniary damages. We admit that if many repetitions of this occur the Colonel's life-long ambition to die poor will more than likely be realized, but we shall bend every energy to give him his paper regularly hereafter. We will see their new advertisement in another column this week.

Harris-Bridge Letter.

Again the fall of the year has arrived and we can again join in the song of the poet and make the welkin ring with:

"Soft and low, soft and low,
Autumn breezes blow,
Oh, hear them; Summer's gone,
Winter hastens on."

The fields are white with the fleecy staple, and the farmers are making all the effort possible to get it gathered before extreme cold weather sets in. Again the toot of the hunter's horn can be heard in the woods as he chases the "possum." The "possum," every kind of vegetation reminds us that the days of their life are about spent, and tells us that we, too, are hastening on to the end of all things, and in passing we sing:

"Around us fall the autumn leaves,
A power of red and gold,
While each a silent warning gives,
We, too, are growing old."

This section will soon be blest (if it be a blessing) with free rural delivery of mail. Some are highly elated over it, while some do not think it will prove satisfactory. The experiment will be watched with interest.

The Iola Debating Society will meet next Saturday night. Everybody is urged to attend.

The health of our people is very good at present.

Miss Mollie Major, of Spartanburg, is visiting the family of Mr. J. A. Brooks.

Mr. Crayton Kay went to Pickens on business last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, of Midway, visited Mrs. L. E. Barnett last Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. Holder has about recovered from the injuries received a few weeks ago by being thrown from her buggy.

The farmers will soon begin the sowing of small grain, and from every indication a tremendous acreage will be sown. This community was shocked to learn of the death of Prof. G. L. Johnston at Belton a few days ago, for his friends were numbered by the hundreds in this part of the County. He once taught the Lebanon High School, and as one of his old pupils, we know how to appreciate the good done by him and the good example set before the youth. He had a way of winning the friendship and good will of every one with whom he came in contact. "Time, like a stream, is gliding on," and the good and great are not spared; but all alike have to travel the same road, "the road that leadeth to the grave," and truly each and every one can say: "A moment more and we may pass, From mortal sight away."

W. C. BARNETT.
